

HEIDI EIGNER

Junior Web Developer

PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

For twenty years, I was working in administration/customer service, and though I was good at my job, I realized there was no room for growth, and that I needed a new challenge. Since I've always been a natural with computers, I decided to join a "bootcamp" computer science course. It was one of the craziest decisions I have ever made, not to mention terrifying. The course was grueling, but we learned a lot. We studied languages like Java, PHP, HTML and CSS; frameworks like Angular and Bootstrap, and mobile frameworks like Nativescript and Ionic. Seven months later, I am definitely on the road to becoming a bona fide web developer. I prefer Front-End to Back-End, but I also love databases. I am a team player and team builder, I am fiercely loyal and in it for the long haul, with great communication and writing skills.

CONTACT DETAILS

Cell: 514-582-8537
Email: 5828537@gmail.com
LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/heidi-eigner-646517134>
Website: <https://hiya5150.github.io/>

SKILLS AND ABILITIES

Bilingual. English and French. Spoken and written.
Front End: Javascript, Typescript, HTML, CSS.
Back End: MySQL, PHP.
Familiar with frameworks like Angular, Ionic, Nativescript.
Knowledgeable in GitHub, Webstorm/PHP Storm, Visual Studio Code, Windows Powershell.
Good communication skills.
Reliable and professional.
Good time management skills.
Team player - Dedicated - Hard Worker

ACADEMIC PROFILE

Tav College

Web-Development 'bootcamp' Course (Programmation d'Applications Mobiles) | October 2018 - Present

-Core Programming: Java, PHP
-MySQL: Intermediate and Advanced
-Front End: Javascript, Typescript, HTML, CSS.
-Frameworks: Angular, Bootstrap.
-Mobile: Ionic, Nativescript

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Freelance Writer and Columnist

Various Publications | 2010-present

- I wrote a weekly column on community news in Hamodia, an English-language newspaper targeting the Orthodox Jewish community, for 9 years. Though the subject matter was dry at times, I added humor and a personal touch to keep my readers engaged. Though the column wasn't designed for it, I often included a sidebar called Eigner's Take in which I shared my thoughts and opinions.
- I published articles on news, current issues in several English-language magazines catering to the Orthodox Jewish community.
- Publications I've been published in: Ami Magazine, Mishpachah Magazine, Binah Magazine, Hamodia Newspaper. Pen Name: Chaya Eigner. (samples available upon request).

Account Manager, Kosher Compliance Specialist

MK Kosher, Montreal, Quebec | 2007-2018

-As an outgoing and friendly person, I put my clients at ease as I took them through application process, from completing the application form, all the way to receiving Kosher certification. My negotiation skills came in handy when it came to estimating and negotiating fees.
-A big part of my job was making the client happy, something I accomplished with aplomb, even in difficult situations.
-I've always been good with computers, both hardware and software, and it was inevitable that I became the point person who handled the structural tasks and troubleshooting on the organization's custom data management software. When someone in the company had a problem they couldn't solve, I was always happy to help.

Administrative Assistant

Kollel Keser Torah (Rabbinical College)
Montreal, Quebec | 1998- 2007

In this job, I was responsible for accounting tasks like payroll, and general bookkeeping. I also acted as the personal assistant to two rabbis.

